Please Note:

This move out cleaning checklist serves as a general guideline of what is usually required by a majority of companies. However, it should not be used as a definitive checklist but instead as a primer of what to expect. If you're a tenant preparing to vacate we highly recommend that you contact your property management company and review everything required for a successful move out inspection. We also suggest that you request to be present for the inspection. If you're a tenant moving into a unit, be sure to do a move-in inspection. This is very important. Get everything in writing and signed.
